BRIEF SUMMARY

Report on Library Induction Programme 2026–27

The Department of Library and IQAC, Karmaveer Bhaurao Patil College, Urun-Islampur, organized a Library Induction Programme for newly admitted students for the academic year 2026–27. The programme was conducted with the purpose of helping new students become familiar with the college library and encouraging them to make effective use of the library as an important Knowledge Resource Centre for their academic growth.

Objectives of the Programme:

To introduce newly admitted students to the library, its resources, facilities and services.

To make students aware of the library rules and regulations and proper procedures for using library facilities.

To familiarize students with different print and electronic information sources available in the library.

To provide practical awareness about the use of OPAC (Online Public Access Catalogue) for searching and locating books and other resources.

To introduce students to reference books, journals, magazines, newspapers, databases and e-resources.

To encourage students to develop regular reading habits and independent learning skills.

To motivate students to use authentic and relevant information resources for their assignments, projects, examinations and research activities.

Programme Details:

During the programme, Mr. Abhaykumar Patil, delivered a presentation on “Empowering Higher Education through Knowledge Resource Centres.” He interacted with the newly admitted students and explained the functioning of the library in a simple and practical manner.

The students were given detailed information about the library rules and regulations, membership, book issue and return procedures, renewal facilities, reading room, reference services and other facilities available to them. Special emphasis was given to responsible use of library materials and maintaining a positive learning environment in the library. The session also introduced students to the wide range of information sources available in the library. Information regarding textbooks, reference books, dictionaries, encyclopaedias, newspapers, journals, magazines and other print resources was shared with the students. The students were also made aware of the importance of using reference sources appropriately for academic work.

A significant part of the programme focused on the use of OPAC (Online Public Access Catalogue). Students were explained how to search for books by title, author and subject and how to identify the availability and location of a particular resource in the library. This helped students understand how technology has made searching for library resources easier and more convenient. Students were further introduced to databases, e-resources and other digital information resources available through the library. They were guided on how such resources can support their classroom learning, assignments, presentations, projects and research work. The importance of selecting reliable and relevant information sources was also highlighted.

The interaction with the newly admitted students made the session more engaging and practical. Students were encouraged to ask questions and clarify their doubts regarding the use of library resources and services. The programme therefore served as an effective orientation for students and helped them understand that the library is not merely a place for issuing books but a dynamic centre for learning, information access, self-study and academic development.

Outcomes of the Programme:

The Library Induction Programme successfully created awareness among newly admitted students about the overall functioning and effective utilization of the college library. Students gained a clear understanding of the library rules, available resources, facilities and services. They also became familiar with OPAC and the process of searching for and locating library materials.

The programme enhanced students' awareness of reference books, journals, magazines, databases and e-resources and encouraged them to explore both print and digital sources for their academic requirements. It also helped students understand the importance of using authentic information and developing effective information-searching skills.

Overall, the programme provided newly admitted students with a positive first-hand introduction to the library and encouraged them to use its resources regularly. It contributed towards developing reading habits, self-learning, information literacy and responsible use of academic resources, thereby supporting the broader objectives of teaching, learning and research in the institution.
